

I'm VERY against further deregulating our information sources. Allowing cross-media ownership by fewer corporations would have a negative impact on our ability to get independent, in-depth, and varied news--essential to our form of open, democratic government. It would eliminate competition, and is NOT in the public interest.